women s life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it the present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in spanish during the early modern period both in spain and in mexico the golden age of spanish mysticism has traditionally been read in terms of individual authors or theological traditions god made word however considers early modern spanish mysticism as a question of language and as a discourse that circulated in concrete social institutional and geographic spaces proposing a new reading of early modern spanish mysticism god made word traces the struggles over the representation of interiorized spiritual union the tension between making it known and conveying its unknowability far beyond the usual canon of mystic literature dale shuger combines a study of genres that have traditionally been the object of literary study including poetry theatre and autobiography with a language based analysis of other areas that have largely been studied by historians and theologians arguing that these generic separations grew out of an increasing preoccupation with the cultivation and control of interiorized spirituality god made word shows that by tracing certain mystic representations we come to understand the emergence of different discursive rules and expectations for a wide range of representations of the ineffable
