we have come a long way since the days when weather information could only be found in the back pages of newspapers the weather obsession takes the temperature of modern weather media and investigates how it has fuelled our fascination with all things climatic weather information now pervades everything from our mobile devices to online news and social media while the bureau of meteorology is a daily destination for millions of us what has made weather so much more than a mere talking point what happens when this data becomes big business and what is at stake when it comes to how the media frames our understanding of the relationship between extreme weather and climate change the weather obsession lifts the lid on our insatiable appetite for meteorological media and shows that while we might not have stopped worrying about the forecast almost all of us have learnt to love the bom the exact tale of my misadventure on that september day i can scarcely now remember one thing i have clear in my mind the weather for it was in that curious time of year when autumn s caprices reach their height either in the loveliest of skies or a resolute storm now it was the latter and for two days the clear tints of the season had been drowned in monotonous grey the mighty hill streams came down like fields in breadth and when the wind ceased for a time the roar of many waters was heard in the land ragged leaves blocked the path heather and bracken were sodden as the meadow turf and the mountain backs were now shrouded to their bases in mist and now looming ominous and near in a pause of the shifting wrack
