while traditional christian thought and spirituality have always affirmed the divine presence in human life thatamanil argues we have much to learn from non dualistic hindu thought especially that of the eighth century thinker sankara and from the christian panentheism of paul tillich thatamanil compares their diagnoses and prognoses of the human predicament in light of their doctrine of god or ultimate reality what emerges is a new theology of god and human beings with a richer and more radical conception of divine immanence a reconceived divine transcendence and a keener sense of how the dynamic and active spirit at work in us anchors real hope and deep joy using key insights from christian and hindu thought thatamanil vindicates comparative theology expands the vocabulary about the ineffable god and arrives at a new construal of the problems and prospects of the human condition in the creation of god jacob hartmann presents a profound investigation into the evolution of religious consciousness and the conception of divinity rather than a theological discourse the book is an anthropological and philosophical exploration that weaves historical analysis with contemplative insight employing a particularly eloquent and convincing literary style hartmann challenges the reader with meticulous research and narrative depth the work is grounded in the rich traditions of religious scholarship engaging critically with significant thought from a pantheon of philosophical minds thus situating itself securely within the broader literary context of metaphysical and existential inquiries into the nature of the divine and its role in human society as a thinker jacob hartmann is known for his incisive intellect and his ability to intertwine academic rigor with cultural history the impetus behind the creation of god likely stems from hartmann s lifelong fascination with the nexus of culture religion and consciousness his work reflects a deep seated drive to understand how mankind s perception of a higher power is constructed and the influence this holds over our collective cultural and ethical frameworks his scholarship is both reflection and critique of the enduring human quest to understand the unknown forces that shape our world this reissue from digicat publishing meticulously reproduced for modern readers will undoubtedly captivate those intrigued by the study of religion and spirituality recommended for scholars students of the humanities and intellectually curious minds the creation of god offers a rich exploration of mankind s quest to understand and articulate the numinous with hartmann s masterful assembly of ideas and historical contexts the book stands not only as a significant cultural document but as an enduring contribution to the discourse on the origins and impact of religious thought the divine revelation in the holy scriptures follows a central line concerning the person and plan of our unique triune god this revelation is progressive beginning with god in genesis 1 1 and culminating in the all inclusive christ in revelation the sixty six books of the bible reveal that the center and highest point of the divine revelation is christ who today is realized in our experience as the life giving and indwelling spirit in this spirit we have everything related to the triune god including the all inclusive death the powerful resurrection and all the unsearchable riches of christ the central line of the bible reveals that our wonderful triune god who is our portion and day by day supply desires to impart all that he is into us to constitute and build us up as the body of christ in the central line of the divine revelation witness lee fully unveils this central truth beginning from genesis and concluding in revelation with the new jerusalem
